2013 KALLESKE EDUARD SHIRAZ

GRAND Gold Medal

Mundus Vini BioFach 2016

International Organic Wine Award, Germany

Gold Medal

2015 China Wine & Spirits Awards

96 Points - 2015 WBM Wines of the Year

“A wall of perfume showing off the ripest of dark berry fruit, lashings of fine cedary oak and dustings of exotic spice. The palate brings it all home; soft, so supple, such depth – though there’s amplitude that saturated the palate and yet holds a perfect line and length”.

Mike Bennie, WBM, January/February 2016

94 Points

“Pressed to French and American hogsheads for the final stages of fermentation; matured for 2 years. It is powerful, and unequivocally full-bodied, black fruits totally dominant, so much so that the tannins seem mild. Its best days are far into the future”.

Halliday Wine Companion 2017

★★★★★

“Candy-like aromas of prunes and raspberries. Lots of sweet varietal fruit dominates the mid-palate with plenty of grippy tannins”.

2013 KALLESKE EDUARD SHIRAZ

96 Points

“The past two Eduard vintages 2010 – 2012 – have been outstanding and this is no different. A deep, brooding red in the glass, it exudes a bouquet of dark fruit aromas with subtle spice and oak. Hand-picked and matured for two years in hogsheads, it has an intensity of black fruit flavours and ripeness on the palate, with licorice and spice also present. It’s a rich, elegant wine. The flavours linger long and the tannins are fine. Very enjoyable now, but a wine with strong cellaring potential”.

Brett Smith, Wine Jury, Geelong Advertiser

95 Points

“Beautiful. Pitch perfect. Lashings of soft fruit matched to curls of dry, ropey tannin. Choc-peppermint characters smooth and lift as they pass. Fantastic length. Can be consumed either now or much later; it’s balanced and supple and, accordingly, highly drinkable even now”.

Campbell Mattinson, The Wine Front

“The Kalleske Eduard Shiraz Old Vine Barossa Valley Shiraz 2013 is from vines planted between 1905 and 1971. The nose is inviting with black plum, fruit cake and spice while the full bodied palate is rich and generously flavoured with plenty of weight and structure, finishing dry and satisfying”.
