"This vineyard was planted in 1875. This wine is literally painful with the intensity and complexity of its unbridled black-fruited assault on the palate. You could write 100 words describing the aromas and flavours, the next person writing the same length, equally valid, but having nothing in common with the first description. Kalleske offers 13 specific flavour descriptors threaded through different, more general, observations".

"Aromas of blueberries and blackberries mingle on the nose with hints of licorice. A huge palate with loads of fruit flesh and layers of classy oak and tannins".
